

from the publisher

“Over the past 24 years U.S Tech has become the major publication for the electronics industry. We have adapted to the many changes that have taken place, while helping others in our industry to do so as well. We are proud to be getting better, as our newspaper and web efforts encourage interactive product development and manufacturing on a global scale. We endeavor to report fresh news to the industry, and squeeze deadlines to publish the most current news that we can. We emphasize coverage of new products and services that, we believe, can help technology in the U.S. continue to thrive in global markets. Our website visitor numbers indicate rapidly growing readership in Canada, Mexico, Europe and the Asia/Pacific region.”

Jacob Fattal